Regional Airports

The University of Warwick is easily accessed from all major airports in the UK. There are two regional airports and the campus can also be reached by public transport from all the major London airports.

Birmingham Airport To get to the University from Birmingham airport, either take the train to Coventry and then local bus or taxi to the University of Warwick.

East Midlands (near Nottingham) has some international flights, and has an (infrequent) National Express service to Coventry.

London Airports

London Heathrow has many more flights, and is about 2 hours away from Coventry either by bus National Express or by rail (via London). The bus option is simpler and cheaper.

London Luton also has various international flights, and is under 2 hours from Coventry by bus

London Gatwick is the second largest airport in the UK, offering a variety of international flights, and is 3hrs 30mins from Coventry by bus London Stansted has various international flights, and is 3hrs 30mins from Coventry by bus

There are various rail stations that are easily accessed from the campus and they offer excellent links to Birmingham, London and many other major UK cities.

Coventry Rail Station, approximately four miles from the campus, is the nearest main-line train station to the University. If you're travelling locally, you may find the nearer, but less frequently served, Canley Rail Station or Tile Hill Rail Station more convenient. You can easily reach Coventry Rail from London (Euston) and Birmingham, which run regular and frequent services direct to Coventry. From Coventry Station, there are frequent local bus services to the University.

Outside the station, catch the National Express bus 12X which travels onto main campus.

Taxis are also available from outside of the station.

Birmingham New Street Rail Station

During weekdays trains from Birmingham New Street depart for Coventry on average every 10 minutes. The journey takes between 20-30 minutes depending on which service is used.

London Northwestern Railway offer a regular rail service that stops at local rail stations including Canley Rail Station which is a 25 minute walk, or a shorter bike ride or taxi journey than from the main Coventry Rail Station to campus.

Birmingham International Rail Station

The station that serves Birmingham Airport is Birmingham International. During weekdays trains depart from Birmingham International to Coventry on average every 10 minutes. The journey takes between 10-15 minutes depending on which service you use.
