

CLEPA RESPONSE TO ANEC PROPOSAL

We appreciate the efforts of ANEC to open a discussion about what is going to happen to R44 (or elements of it) when R129 products come to the market. However, we would prefer to see a clear roadmap for the future that sets out policy-makers intentions for all child restraint categories.

We understood that R44 would remain in force in some form. We feel this new proposal sets a precedent that may lead to unforeseen consequences for other products in the future.

CLEPA is ready to participate in discussions to develop a clear route (for all CRS categories).
