1. Measures aiming to Facilitate the Cross-border Movement of Relief and Essential Supplies

In the Western Balkan Region some crossing points at which customs and other inspection agencies are present, have been designated as the ones at which the traffic flow of all goods is guaranteed 24/7.

In addition to this, specific crossing points are determined to form so called "Green Corridor" in the Region. These crossing points ensure the traffic flow of all goods, giving priority to the essential goods. The single, previously agreed, List of the essential goods contains the food and feed essential products and the World Customs Organisation list of the medical supplies. Depending on the needs of the CEFTA Parties the list of the essential goods may be reassessed and modified. Prioritized movement of the above said essential goods is secured through electronic dissemination of pre-arrival information within the IT System named "System of Electronic Exchange of Data" (SEED) that is in use in whole Region. SEED notifications on the arrival of priority consignments are sent in advance to all agencies involved in clearance of goods, in order for the agencies to prepare in advance and give to those consignments a priority passage. Mixed consignments, transporting the essential products from the List and the ones out of List, are given priority treatment, as well.

Recognition of the essential goods is based on the input of tariff HS code at the level on 8 or 6 digits made in customs export/transit declarations.
