By Air

Before air travel

Pre-departure test

- If you stay out of Israel for 72 hours or longer, you must take a PCR test no more than 72 hours before the scheduled departure time to Israel. Travelers will be permitted to board plane if they present the negative test result written in English that has the traveler's passport number. This requirement applies to all people arriving in Israel, including vaccinated and recovered travelers.
- If you transit to Israel, and the time between the first departure and the departure to Israel is 24 hours or more, you must take a PCR test no more than 72 hours before the scheduled time of departure to Israel.
- If access to testing is limited: you can petition the Exceptions Committee to be permitted to enter Israel without a PCR test, but only on the basis of humanitarian grounds or proven difficulties accessing testing facilities.

Entry statement form

You must fill out the online form no more than 24 hours before the scheduled departure to Israel. You must enter your personal information and information about the people traveling with you, check your health declaration, provide information on COVID-19 vaccines you have received, note whether you have recovered from COVID-19, and fill out the address of the isolation accommodation, in case you are required to enter isolation.

Paying for the PCR test on arrival

After you submit the form, you can prepay for the PCR test that you must take on arrival in Ben Gurion International Airport. Testing at the airport is in addition to the pre-departure test. If you prepay, you will get a 20 percent discount. The test costs NIS 80 if you prepay, and NIS 100 if you pay at the airport.

Foreign nationals

Foreign nationals must have an entry permit issued by the Population and Immigration Authority. Without this permit, boarding will be denied.

At the Airport

Pre-departure PCR test

When you check-in, you must present your negative PCR test result to airline staff. Law enforcement officers might ask you to present your negative PCR test result when you arrive in Israel.

Entry clearance

When you check-in, you must present the entry clearance that you received after submitting the entry statement form. Keep this clearance for border control. You might be asked to present it to other officials when you arrive in Israel.

PCR test on arrival

When you arrive in Israel, you must take a COVID-19 test at your own expense. This test is in addition to the test that you must take before departing to Israel. This requirement applies to all travelers coming to Israel, including vaccinated and recovered travelers.

On board the aircraft

Wear a mask

Everyone six years of age and older must wear a mask on board the aircraft. Travelers required to enter isolation on arrival must wear a mask while they are at the airport and during travel to the isolation accommodation.

Social distancing

For the sake of your health, stay away from people who do not live with you.

Practice hygiene

Wash your hands with sanitizers.

1.2 Giving preference in the clearance and reduction of physical checks of medical supplies and other essential goods as appears in the HS classification reference list composed by the World Customs Organization (WCO) together with the World Health Organization (WHO).

1.3 At these times, Israel Customs' paperless procedures allow to streamline commerce electronically. This includes import declarations that are transmitted to Customs prior to the arrival of the goods into Israel as about 95% of which are cleared within 20 min from the time of transmission.

1.4 In terms of enforcement, in case of a violation of customs regulations, currently Israel Customs only detains goods upon necessity as we avoid severe enforcement measures as stated in the law such as seizures of goods or foreclosure of bank accounts.

2. Measures aiming at Supporting the Economy and Sustaining Supply Chain Continuity

2.1. As part of the collaboration with countries with which Israel has a Free Trade Agreements (FTA), certificates of origin are accepted electronically as Israel Customs currently waives the obligation to arrive physically and to submit the original certificate to Customs.

2.2. With regards to ATA Carnet, Israel Customs prolonged their validity automatically as it is understandable that the goods cannot be taken out of Israel as long as the current situation is in effect. No payments or no taxes are required for this prolongation.

2.3. In terms of legality of importation, the validity of licenses and permits was extended.

3. Measures aiming at Protecting Customs administrations' Staff

3.1. With regards to protection of employees, Israel Customs is instructed by the Ministry of Health and the Civil Service Commission follow the below measures:

- At the headquarters, as of this week of 4 May 2020, all employees are allowed to come to the office following the rules of the past month: only 25% of the employees was allowed to do so.
- Employees are requested to avoid gatherings and to wear masks at all times.
- Meetings take place electronically using the Zoom application.
- Employees, who are regarded at risk, in case of exposure to the Coronavirus, are allowed to work from home.
- Every day, before coming to work, employees are requested to complete an online statement as to their physical state (how are they feeling, had they been exposed to a person infected with the Coronavirus, is their body temperature normal, do they exhibit any symptoms related to the virus, etc.)
- Before entering our facilities, employees have their temperature checked by the security officer.

4. Measures aiming at Protecting Society

4.1. Customs placing great emphasis on inspection of goods to make sure this situation is not exploited to import counterfeit goods that may harm society. Medical suppliers are especially being checked using our profiling system.

4.2. Israel Customs has a close collaboration with the Ministry of Health and the Population and Immigration Authority of the Ministry of Interior to protect the society.
